INTRODUCTION

Under the State Quarry Rules and the Mineral Development Act 1994, any individual who is in charge of using explosives in quarrying and mining is required by The Minerals and Geoscience Department Malaysia to obtain shotfirer certificate. In order to obtain the certificate an individual must pass the theory examination as well as the practical examination which are conducted by the Department.

Institute of Quarrying Malaysia with the cooperation from Minerals And Geoscience Department Malaysia has been conducting the shotfirer courses since 1993. More than 1,000 quarrying and mining personnel including from overseas had benefited from the course. After more than 20 years of training, the course curriculum and lecture notes have been updated to meet the current requirements for safe blasting practices. Tips on how to achieve good blast and improve the fragmentation are also discussed in the lectures. Overall the lectures cover much more than the syllabus for the shotfirer theory examination. Comprehensive notes and tutorials are given to prepare candidates to sit for the shotfirer theory examination.
